Two more cars will leave here next Friday direct for Macon for the exhibit at the state fair. Mrs. Maggie Waters Passes Away.
On Wednesday at noon Mrs. Maggie Waters, wife of Mr. Julius Waters died after an illness of two or three weeks at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Riggs, in West Statesboro. Rev. J. S. McLemore conducted the funeral services at Bethlehem cemetery three miles west of town yesterday morning, where the interment took place. The deceased leaves an infant two weeks old. The family has the sympathy of a large circle of friends in the sad loss they have sustained.

A Reasonable Advice
It may be a piece of superfluous advice to urge people at this season of the year to lay in a supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost sure to be needed before winter is over, and much more prompt and satisfactory results are obtained when taken as soon as a cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system, which can only be done by keeping the remedy at hand. This remedy is so widely known and so altogether good that no one should hesitate about buying it in preference to any other. It is for sale by all druggists.

The Home.
"That only Paradise which surrounds the fall."
Home is mother's province; her empire, over which she is, emphatically, "monarch of all she surveys." She has here all the essentials of happiness, and if she is skillful in the use of materials she may build a shrine for her household gods more dear and dazzling to the heart and eye than all the storied fancies of antiquity.
How careful should she be, then, to mould her actions and modulate her voice in shapes and tones of purest harmony! How zealous should she apply herself to make only skill and faultless notes from the complicated instrument that responds so faithfully to her touch. How consummate should be her tact in touching the key note of character in husband, children, servants, relatives and friends. How should she tune their hearts to love and reverence her in every relationship? What delicate studies come under her observation and institution for each day and hour of her life? How many and how precious are the ones who look to her for daily happiness, as well as daily comforts, and how bright a spot of sunshine she may make of her circumscribed and undisputed realm!
Mother, wife, daughter, sister, is it not in your power to make some one happy? Do you abandon thoughts of self sufficiently to make their happiness of more consequence than your own? Do you use all your gentle arts and influences to attain an object so desirable? Then you do not have to seek your own contentment. It comes to you in the realization that there is one heart, at least, dependent upon you for happiness. And if you realize also that the variation of a tone carries weight, that the expression of a smile or a glance, the significance of a word, an action, may make or mar the sunshine of a day for that one; and if you regard this trust more sacredly than the keeping of the most precious jewel—then you need not feel the rivalry of strange women, nor rum shops, nor any other business or pleasure. Thus the charm of your presence gladdens the spot made most holy on earth, bearing the sacred title of home.

Pulaski.
Mr. D. L. Atkins left Saturday night for New York via Dublin, Joy go with you Durrance.
We feel grieved to report the illness of Mrs. R. U. Brannen. She has been very sick for about three weeks. We wish for her a speedy recovery. She is under treatment of Dr. Patrick.
We failed to see much about our no fence law last week to our pleasure. It seems to us that the old doctor had his sight up a little too high about it, and brother citizen too. He possibly must be one of the Augustates, as that's the only place I ever saw such, and before I would live there I would build me a balloon and go up. No Sir, brother citizen, the sooner the worst. I am here to say it will be a long time before you will ever see such a law in force here. Of course I am only a renter but the man I rent from owns 12,000 acres of good land, and has enough timber on it to fence twice as much. He says he will fence his farm as long as there is a stump on it. We have good times now and I think we ought to be satisfied and let good enough alone.
A Judicious Inquiry.
A well known traveling man who visits the drug trade says he has often heard druggists inquire of customers who ask for a cough medicine, whether it was wanted for a child or for an adult, and if for a child they invariably recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The reason of this is that they know there is no danger from it and that it always cures. There is not the least danger in giving it, and for coughs, colds and croup it is unsurpassed. For sale by all druggists.

Judge Offered Mob Aid If Law Failed to Hang.
Huntsville, Ala. Sept. 30.—James H. Mitchell on trial for the alleged lynching of the negro Maples, testified in his own behalf today and said Judge Speake made a speech to the mob on the date of the lynching and said:
"Give the law a chance to hang this man, and if it does not do it I will help you hang him."
Mitchell asked the judge to testify, but he refused.
Can You Eat?
S. B. Taylor, a prominent merchant of Chriesman, Tex., says, "I could not eat because of a weak stomach. I lost all strength and ran down in weight. All that money could do was done, but all hope of recovery vanished. Hearing of some wonderful cures effected by the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, I concluded to try it. The first bottle benefited me, and after taking four bottles, I am fully restored to my usual strength, weight and health."

THE NEWS.

Published at Statesboro, Ga.,
EVERY FRIDAY
By The Statesboro News Publishing Co.

The food supply of Fort Arthur was said to be exhausted last April. What the Russians living in the middle of August? asks the Buffalo Courier.

The man who bequeaths his wife a certain amount of money as long as she remains unmarried cannot be accused of overvaluing self-interest, avers the Massachusetts Ploughman.

After the horrors of the immediate past there is something refreshing in a shipwreck in which all the passengers were saved, declares the Massachusetts Ploughman.

The summer does not lack news, but much of it is regrettable, the Buffalo Courier remarks. Battles, dreadful railroad disasters, fires, and various other extensive misfortunes.

A revolution has been pulled off in Bogota. It is the first one Bogota has had this month, and must, therefore, be treated as quite an event, the Chicago Record-Herald remarks.

The number of "good swimmers" who are being drowned this season is still further proof of the soundness of the advice which the mother gave to her darling daughter, declares the Boston Herald.

British Admiralty statistics show that the Navy of England is built and maintained at a lower rate of cost, in proportion to the effectiveness of its fighting strength, than that of any other first-class power.

The captain of the Knight Commander was not put under oath, but permitted to testify on his honor. The evidence of his own books convinced him of falsehood. "Honor" seldom has received a harder jolt.

The difficulty with some of our cattle men and women who are single from choice is that they are unwilling to take upon themselves the burden and responsibilities imposed by nature upon loving hearts and loyal souls.

Immunity from arrest and punishment in Tolstoy's case may show that he has reached the mind and conscience of the czar, who refuses to punish him because at heart he sympathizes in his protest against the war.

What a crew of credulous dolls all these neuritic occultists, telepathists and spiritualists are! declares London Truth. There is positively nothing that they are not prepared to swallow, provided that it tallies with the illusions under which they suffer.

The ethics of the legal profession are fast being lost sight of under the influence of the commercial instinct. Advertising once was abhorrent to any lawyer of standing, but in these days anything goes. Still, it is rather a shock to a lawyer who retains some respect for the old traditions to observe near an uptown ferry house a large billboard, on which corsets and breakfast foods are usually advertised, given over to an announcement that money lost in betting at race tracks was recovered by actions at law. At the bottom of the billboard appeared the names and addresses of two lawyers.

The appointment of Dr. William Osler, of Baltimore, Md., as Regius Professor of Medicine at Oxford University is a distinguished English recognition of the American physician who, in learning and distinction, is generally regarded as one of the foremost men in his profession in this country. Dr. Osler's fame, extended from America to Europe, is due to his contributions to the highest and most scientific development of the medical art and to an intellectual strength and breadth which would have won for him distinction in any calling in which they could be exercised; but, first of all and most emphatically he was a master of the healing art by reason of a perception and a penetration which, added to knowledge and experience, made him a masterful physician. In Dr. Osler's appointment Oxford the whole medical profession of America is honored. If the selection had been left to the arranges of his professional fellows there is no doubt that he would have been chosen by them for the distinction now conferred on him with the approval of the King of England.

GEORGIA NEWS.

Epitomized Items of Interest
Gathered at Random.

Saved by Call of Child.
The home of George F. Cole, who lives four miles from Villa Rica, has been destroyed by fire. Had it not been for one of Mr. Cole's little boys wailing and wanting some water, the whole family would have been burned to death, for Mr. Cole just had time to get them out when the roof fell in.

Preacher Willing to Help.
Dr. J. H. White, of the First Baptist Church, at Macon, has offered his assistance to Alderman Ben L. Jones in the work of driving gamblers out of Macon. He and the alderman entered into an agreement to pay a special detective of their own pocket, and let him go about and get evidence to convict the men who hazard money on games. He is to go through all of the fake clubs as well as the professional gamblers' dens.

Coweta Has Top Rate.
With a very few exceptions the county tax rates have all been reported to the comptroller general and the figures sent in by the various counties tell an interesting story.

The highest county tax rate in the state yet reported is that of Coweta, which is 10 to 100-100 mill, while Johnson and McIntosh follow on its heels with tax rates of 10 mills. On the other hand, the lowest rate yet reported is that of Clinch county, which is 2 mills.

Ordered to Stand Firm.
A few days ago Receiver W. J. Butler, of the First National Bank at Macon, received instructions from Comptroller Ridgeley, at Washington, directing him to stand firm as to his demand on the stockholders of the bank for $200,000, the amount for which it is claimed they are liable under the national bank law.

The investigation came in reply to an inquiry from the receiver as to what course to follow, in view of the fact that several stockholders are resisting the assessment, on the ground that it is too high.

Verdict Considered a Vindication.
Chief of Police R. N. Westbrook, of Albany, was the guest of honor at a banquet tendered by his friends the past week and largely attended. The affair proved to be a sort of love feast. Since the conclusion of the officer's trial before the board of police commissioners he has been busy receiving the congratulations of his friends. It is true that the commission declared the chief guilty of drinking while on duty and imposed a fine of $50, but none of the more serious charges were sustained, and the chief's friends consider the verdict a vindication.

Good Remedy for "Sharkitis."
Those in position to know claim that the ill effects of the Howell bill, which is now in force here, will be materially in the much needed regulation of the business methods of the money sharks in Atlanta. It will be remembered that this bill was passed at the last session of the legislature and its purpose was to restrict the practice of money lenders and protect borrowers who were in many cases the poor and ignorant class.

Virginia Man Claims Damages.
A resident of the vicinity of Thorsby, Va., where one of the camps was established during the summer maneuvers, called at the office of the adjutant general in Atlanta a few days ago and stated that he ought to be reimbursed for alleged depredations made upon his hay racks, his orchards and his turkeys by members of the Second provisional regiment of the Georgia state troops. These alleged depredations, he said, were considerable, and had cost him a neat bit of money. The adjutant general referred the complaint to Colonel Clifford Anderson, who conducted the Second provisional regiment.

Griffin's Valet Suspected.
The mystery of the disappearance of E. H. Griffin, the Quittman man who a week ago left his crutches in his room at the Putnam House, Savannah, and $325 and two revolvers with the clerk, is as deep as ever, though some light may be shed upon the matter by the discovery of the missing man's valet, Bill Bailey, a negro, who is supposed to know about Griffin's disappearance, as his own right was simultaneous with Griffin's disappearance.

To Raise Campaign Funds.
George Foster Peabody, of New York, treasurer of the National Educational committee, has written Mayor Herman Meyers and Miles Belane, of Savannah, and R. F. Maddox, of Atlanta, asking those gentlemen to assist in raising funds for the national campaign. They are wanted to canvass Georgia for funds.

lanth, asking those gentlemen to assist in raising funds for the national campaign. They are wanted to canvass Georgia for funds.

None of the gentlemen has accepted. They have written, suggesting that it would be right and proper for the state democratic committee to take the matter up.

The three gentlemen desire it understood that they sanction the plan for raising funds in Georgia for the national campaign, but think that the work should be conducted through the committee.

Mr. Peabody's letter says, in part: "As you are well aware, the democratic party has no favored or protected interests to whom it may turn for a campaign fund, and must rely upon contributions from patriotic citizens."

According to a dispatch from St. Louis, Georgia eclipsed all her sister states in the brilliancy of her celebration at the fair. President Francis stated to Governor Terrell at the close of the festivities that no state in the union had executed such a brilliant program or attracted to the fair such a magnificent crowd as did Georgia.

The day's celebration was brought to a brilliant conclusion at night with a reception at the Georgia state building. From 8 to 12 o'clock "Bathurst" presented an entrancing scene. Fully a thousand Georgians were received during the evening.

The firemen's drum corps created a sensation everywhere it went, and it took in the entire grounds and paraded down all the principal streets of St. Louis. No single organization of its character attracted such conspicuous attention.

Atlanta played an important part in the Georgia celebration and when Hon. C. E. Dunbar paid glowing tribute to her in his oration, he pre-empted a demonstration that lasted many minutes.

Georgia Road Wine Case.
The Georgia Railroad and Banking Company is not liable to the state of Georgia for any franchise tax, according to the decision handed down by Judge William T. Newman, at Atlanta, in the case of the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company vs. William A. Wright, as comptroller general of the state of Georgia, petition for permanent injunction to prevent the collection of a franchise tax.

The decision is against the state, and unless reversed by some higher court means that the state is forever enjoined from collecting a franchise tax from the Georgia railroad.

When the franchise tax act was passed in 1902, Comptroller General Wright made an effort to collect such a tax from the Georgia railroad. The railroad declined to pay the tax on the ground that it was exempted from all taxes by its charter granted by the state legislature in 1833 the only provision being that the company should pay annually to the state on each of one per cent of the net earnings.

Comptroller Wright contended that the franchise act, repealed all acts excepting railroads from taxation, so far as a franchise tax was concerned.

NOTED ENGLISHMAN DEAD.
Sir William Harcourt, Great Diplomat, Victim of Sudden Dislocation.

Sir William Harcourt, "the finest political gladiator of his age," died very suddenly Saturday at Nuneham Park, near Oxford, England, the country seat which he recently inherited from his nephew.

Only his wife, a daughter of the late John Lubbock Motley, the historian and former American minister to Great Britain, was with him.

When Sir William went to bed Friday night he seemed fairly well, though he had been suffering from a slight chill. Saturday morning, when he was called, he replied cheerily: "In a short time."

WHITE MAN SWUNG UP.
Mob in South Carolina Makes Quick Work with Murderer.
Friday afternoon in the town of Kershaw, South Carolina, John Morrison shot and instantly killed Will Floyd, a prominent farmer. The shooting occurred on the main business street of the village.

It is said Floyd asked Morrison to lend him 10 cents, and on being told that he had no change, Morrison fired two shots, one in the back and one other in the arm.

This was the fourth man that Morrison has killed, his last victim being a negro, for which killing he was recently acquitted. Morrison tried to escape, but he was captured and there were many threats of lynching.

Fearing trouble the militia was ordered to protect Morrison, but before it arrived a mob of citizens overpowered the local officials and spirited him away and lynched him.

This is the first lynching of a white man in South Carolina.

FLOOD IN TRINIDAD
Colorado City in Great Danger From Raging Waters.

RESULT OF CLOUDBURST
River Forced from Banks and Property to Extent of Many Thousands in Value is Swept Away—No Lives Reported Lost.

A terrific storm struck the city of Trinidad, Colorado, Friday and the whole valley, along the Las Animas river, devastating a wide section and causing a loss which will reach one million dollars. So far as known, there was no loss of life, but several are reported missing.

Every bridge in the city of Trinidad is down, the Santa Fe station is demolished, all of the railroads are tied up and the telephone and telegraph service completely suspended. More than thirty city blocks in the residence and business portions were temporarily from two to four feet under water along the river.

The flood was caused by the heavy rain which fell for two days. At 8 o'clock Thursday night the storm assumed cloudburst proportions and the edge of the Las Animas river went over its banks. At 3:30 it was impossible to get within a block of the river bed at any point and commercial street was flooded for three blocks in the heart of the business district.

City in Complete Darkness.
Meantime the electric light and gas plants had been flooded and the city was in complete darkness. Hundreds of citizens thronged the streets on the edge of the submerged district carrying lanterns and doing their best to provide shelter for those driven from their homes. Warning of the flood was given when the river left its banks by revolver shots and the ringing of the fire alarm, followed by the blowing of all the locomotive and shop whistles in town.

Citizens upon roofs made sections of sidewalks peddled through the streets rescuing families which were in danger. The new Bacca hotel, a two-story structure just nearing completion at a cost of $20,000, was destroyed. The roof fell into the way through 50 feet of ground floor of the Santa Fe depot, which was carried away. The Cardinals hotel, adjoining, barely escaped a similar fate, an acre of ground being washed away near it. The Rio Grande bridge at El Moro is out and the Santa Fe right of way in many places has been washed out. Railroad traffic is entirely suspended and business is paralyzed.

It was reported at one time that the flood was due to a break in the city reservoir, but this is erroneous. The reservoir is safe.

SHERMAN HELPED THE SOUTH.
General's Famous March Brought Up in Convention of Lawyers.
The first convention of the Universal Congress of Lawyers and Jurists concluded at St. Louis Friday after three days of presentation and discussion of legal propositions of world-wide interest, chief of which was the ultimate establishment of international peace and abolishment of all conflicts.

Everett P. Wheeler, member of the New York bar, asserted that devastation of private property on land or sea as a direct injury to the pillagers and in this connection referred to the march of Sherman through Georgia as helping the Confederate cause and delaying the final result.

The statement brought forth a storm of his feet, and the Bostonian immediately denounced the New Yorker's statement as ridiculous.

He said that the fact that the destruction of private property, whether on land or sea, was of an advantage to the destroyer could not be gained and that as long as war lasted destruction and pillage would follow in its tracks.

BLUFF OF BRAVE BROWN.

Thirty-seven persons were so injured as to require medical treatment. Of this number the injuries of sixteen are serious and in one case may prove fatal. The others sustained minor cuts and bruises.

SENSATIONAL TESTIMONY.
Alleged Lyncher at Huntsville Makes Statement in His Own Behalf.
James H. Mitchell, on trial at Huntsville, Ala., for the lynching of a colored man, testified Friday and said Judge Speake made an address to the mob on the date of the lynching and said: "Give the law a chance to hang O. P. Porter. If it does not do it, I will help you hang Mitchell."

Mitchell said he was present at the judge to testify, but he refused.

MANSTON BOUND OVER.
Charges Against Atlanta Engraver Anent Counterfeiting Case to Be Investigated by Grand Jury.

Under a $2,000 bond, Charles A. Manston, superintendent of the Southern Engraving Company, in Atlanta, charged with being a party to the making of the $10 counterfeiting plates, the unsealing of which some three months ago created a pronounced sensation throughout the south, was held Saturday no answer to the charge in the United States court.

William Wynne, who brought the accusation against Manston, is the principal witness. District Attorney Bell requested him to tell all he knew about the plates from which the $10 bill plate had been made. Nothing loth to talk, Wynne started his story. "It was approached," he said, "by parties who wanted a plate from which to make money. I was told that a plant had recently been purchased and established here, and that work of this kind could be done. I had worked with Manston and I went to him, telling him that we could cook something out of it. Manston asserted that he would have the parties arrested. I told him that would accomplish nothing, as nothing could be proved on them. Then he said if there were snipers about, he'd like to trim them himself. I told him what we could do, and he decided to go into the scheme. It was Manston and myself who made those plates. I got Willie Howell to let me work at night for him, and on Friday night we made the plates."

"These plates," interrupted District Attorney Bell, showing the witness the plates.

Wynne identified the plates. Then he told how he and Willie Howell, an assistant in the engraving department, for a night's work, and during that night, some time about May 20, the plates were made. He described to the court the usual inside working of a shop of the kind, much of which was Greek not only to the spectators and audience, but to the attorneys interested in the case. He declared that, after Manston had how the plates were made, he had arranged for a night off for Howell when Wynne should work. Howell when approached by Wynne was not anxious to drop out for the night, but did so. Then Wynne told the court how the plates had been made. He asserted that the bill used was a Buffalo bill and that Manston took the bill from his pocket when the photographing process began.

The bill, said the witness, "was an old one and he was afraid of it. He thought it ought to be a new bill. It was that bill we photographed, and from it the plates were made."

Wynne testified that he had known El Moro is out and the Santa Fe right of way in many places has been washed out. Railroad traffic is entirely suspended and business is paralyzed.
